NEW FACE FOR NEW TIMES

In keeping with the growing need for responsiveness and interaction in today's world, the Holy Spirit University of Kaslik (USEK) has developed a new, user-friendly website that can be adapted on PCs, tablets and mobile phones for an ultimate browsing experience. In addition to the clear display of academic information, which is accessible for all, the new design makes it easier for students to find the program of their choice. The novelty lies with the links to USEK's official page on the main social media, which are available directly on the homepage of the new website.

Samar Azzi Achkouty (PhD)
Chair of the Green Committee and Director of USEK Laboratories
Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences

The USEK Green Committee has taken precise and tangible eco-steps, making the university one of the frontrunners in the effort to go green. Through adopting the principles of the 3 R's: Reduce, Recycle and Reuse, the Green Committee has created a campus culture with a strong sense of environmental responsibility in its campus citizens. Switching to greener energy sources, minimizing the consumption of water and electrical energy to the lowest possible level and developing a philosophy of environmental awareness in the lifestyle and everyday concerns of students and staff on campus, has made USEK one of the leading Green Campuses in the region.

The most recent green activity includes a recycling process, introduced to address the national garbage crisis and to give a clear message that the solution is in the hands of each one of us. Supported by the higher management and with the collaboration of the community in general, we are adopting the Two Bag System, spreading awareness and aiming for the ultimate goal of a "0 Waste campus".
