

NATHALIE ESTEPHAN

Nathalie Estephan is Associate Professor and Associate Dean at the Faculty of Sciences at USEK. She has a PhD in Analytical Chemistry, specializing in chemometrics and data analysis, from AgroPariTech in France. She is currently teaching several courses related to chemometrics, analytical chemistry, spectroscopy and food science at USEK. Her research interests are related to chemometrics and physico-chemistry applied to the fields of environment and agrifood.