

NAJI SHELALA

Naji graduated in 1986 from the American University of Beirut (AUB) with a Bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering. He continued to develop his career and has several certifications; among them are ACC (Leadership and Executive Coach) and PMP (Project Management Professional). Additionally, Naji is a certified instructor at the Lebanese Order of Engineers of Beirut. He has been training engineers since 2004 in subjects related to project management. He has been involved with several NGOs and his favourite slogan is: "Building people is far more important than building stones".