DOCTORAL COLLEGE - FROM THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD TO THE LABOR MARKET

by Nicole Saliba-Chalhoub, PhD | President of the Doctoral College | Deputy President for Academic Affairs

Initiated during last year, the project of the professionalization of the doctoral curriculum and paths is, for the new academic year, a major priority for the Holy Spirit University of Kaslik (USEK) Doctoral College.

Indeed, Ph.D. candidates need now more than ever to be in touch with the business and industrial world, in order to make operable the object of their scientific research and to bring value to their territory, in a real tangible way.

In this context, a number of doctoral colleges and schools of Lebanon, among which the Holy Spirit University of Kaslik (USEK) Doctoral College, being the project initiator, has been chosen to be the demonstrator, have signed a charter, aiming to put the project into action, including through targeted trainings and professional integration of PhD candidates. For this matter, contacts have already been established with several entrepreneurs and industrialists, last April, under the auspices of the Ministry of Industry.

The leaven of this project is the lack of recruitment of our Ph.D. candidates within the Higher Education sector, which is becoming more and more narrow, and the deep conviction that the doctoral researches are not only dedicated to remain confined in academia, but gain to become actionable and profitable for all stakeholders.
